sebastiano serlio was the most important architectural writer and theorist of the sixteenth century the author of the first wide ranging illustrated book on architecture he produced a complete set of model designs as well as practical solutions for everyday design problems this volume the second in a two volume series of serlio s entire works presents the previously unpublished sixth book the seventh book and as well as the extraordinary book of doors his little known castrametation of the romans

each of which demonstrates serlio s sophisticated design theories this is the first translation of serlio s later works and the first time that the long lost sixth volume has been united with its companion works and restored to its intended position the book also includes an introduction and notes by translators vaughan hart and peter hicks that demonstrate serlio s significance within the history of architecture and the importance of these neglected texts to our understanding of serlio s work first published in 2005 this book provides a comprehensive review of a remarkable popular literary movement which began in the spanish peninsula about the turn of the fifteenth century spread over western europe including england and having flourished and exercised a considerable influence for some time died out so completely as to be almost forgotten many of the romances created by the movement are now extremely rare and so they are presented here in one volume for the benefit of scholars and general readers alike assimilation was an ideology central to european expansion and colonisation an ideology which legitimised colonisation for centuries assimilation and empire shows that the aspiration for assimilation was not only driven by materialistic reasons but was also motivated by ideas the engine of assimilation was found in the combination of two powerful ideas the european philosophical conception of human perfectibility and the idea of the modern state europeans wanted to create in their empires political and cultural forms they valued and wanted to realise in their own societies but which did not yet exist saliha belmessous examines three imperial experiments seventeenth and eighteenth century new france nineteenth century british australia and nineteenth and twentieth century french algeria and reveals the complex inter relationship between policies of assimilation which were driven by a desire for perfection and universality and the greatest challenge to those policies discourses of race which were based upon perceptions of difference neither colonised nor european peoples themselves were able to conform to the ideals given as the object of assimilation yet the deep links between assimilation and empire remained because at no point since the sixteenth century has the utopian project of perfection articulated through the progressive theory of history been placed seriously in question the failure of assimilation pursued through empire for both colonised and coloniser reveals the futility of the historical pursuit of perfection
