in this book patrick lynn rivers asserts that states govern racist hate by governing racial constructs rivers maintains that state practices used to govern hate and race in both the united states and south africa do not make citizens safer even as the united states markets itself as a melting pot of cultures and south africa touts its status as the new multicultural city on a hill in effect the regulatory practices of the neoliberal state aid in the redirection of responsibility for the eradication of racist hate away from the nation and toward the hated leaving unaddressed the systemic causes of hate in line with emerging scholarship on hate but also taking advantage of the perspective that comparative analysis makes possible rivers advocates a particular brand of progressive activism for a socially engaged state and citizenry where race is central and racism is not anomalous
